Spiritual Message

Deacon Paul Hursh

Hospitality

“And whoever gives only a cup of cold water to one of these little ones to drink because he is a disciple—amen, I say to you, he will surely not lose his reward.” (Matthew 10:42) The theme this week that runs through both the Gospel and the story of Elisha’s visit in the second book of Kings is hospitality. The age-old tradition of offering refreshment and comfort to visitors is something to consider today as we celebrate the anniversary of the founding of our nation.

As a nation of immigrants it is good to recall the importance of welcoming and supporting those who have traveled far to start a new life. Most of our forefathers came to America because life was not great in their ancestral home. Many fled political upheaval, discrimination, or natural disaster and came for the liberty promised by a democracy founded on the principal that, “all men are created equal.” Others came to enjoy the freedom of religion; to exercise freedom to worship God as they chose in honor of God, as they understood God.

As our forefathers enjoyed these new freedoms so we should share them with others and not only that, but to extend a welcome that includes supporting their needs as they strive to get on their feet and pursue the American dream. As the newcomers strive to secure a place in America for themselves it invigorates these same freedoms for all of us. Part of the welcoming process is the acceptance of others who are unlike us, speak different languages, and cherish different customs. These differences do not strain the fabric of our nation; rather this diversity enriches who we are. Out of the diversity of our history come such precious things as jazz music, a frontier spirit, and a can-do attitude to get ‘er done.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Brother Knights

As I reflect on this past year and the accomplishments of our Council, I can't help but notice the excellent organization and leadership from our past officers under the direction of our Worthy Grand Knight John Simpson. As I take over the chancellor post for this upcoming year, I'm able to get a running start on all programs due to the forethought and leadership Mike Threadgill has giving to this post this past year. The tremendous documentation provided for each director is in Mike's own words "Outstanding". I just hope Mike's shoulders are big enough for me to stand on and continue this program forward. It leaves me with just one feeling of "Just don't screw it up".

When attending the 4th degree exemplification with our new Sir Knights, the message throughout the whole weekend was get involved. Get involved at your Council and Assembly levels, get involved with your Church and community, or even get involved with your city and state positions to make a difference. Make a difference in your council and church community by being involved and sharing your faith and ideals with others. This is our time to shine and start changing our communities to what is important to us. I look forward to a continuation of what Mike has provided for me with working with each Director, understanding their thoughts, and staying out of their way so they can shine. I'll be working closely with Mike over the next months to fill all director and co-director positions for the upcoming year and I will be looking for people interested in stepping up in support of these director positions. This is your time to shine and be part of a very active council.

What do I see on the calendar for July and August what programs are coming:

- 7/10: Council and Assembly meetings with our New Officers.
- 7/11: Call to Protect Training Class. Every Knight needs to be certified.
- 7/24: Officers meeting. Please come and discuss your ideas.
- 7/30: 5th Sunday Rosary celebration. Volunteer to read for the Rosary.
- 8/6: Knights mass followed by Installation of Officers.
- 8/17: Call to Protect Training Class. Every Knight needs to be certified.
- 8/18-8/20: Father and Son Campout. Theme: "Heroes Among Us".

Long-Term Care Plans Offer Peace of Mind

Since its addition to the Order's product portfolio in 2000, long-term care (LTC) insurance has provided the Knights of Columbus with an excellent opportunity to further serve members and their families. And, for our long-term care policy holders in the United States, there's an added bonus.

It's called "Provider Pathway," a program offering access to a network of long-term care providers at discounted rates. The network includes discounts on products, such as hearing aids, diabetic supplies, personal emergency response systems, and durable medical equipment, as well as skilled nursing facilities, assisted living, and adult day care.

Eligibility for participation in this program is open to Knights of Columbus long-term care insurance policyholders, their spouses, dependent children, parents and parents-in-law. All providers are fully credentialed and meet state licensing requirements.

If you haven't yet spoken with me about long-term care insurance, you owe it to yourself to do so. There are a few decisions to make in choosing a "plan" — a comprehensive plan that covers care whether you're at home or in a facility, or one that covers facility only; daily benefit amounts and benefit durations (how much and how long it will last); and the length of the elimination period (waiting period) before benefits kick-in.

Having a professionally trained agent — and a brother Knight you can trust — to help guide you through the process is yet another valuable benefit that comes with your membership. Take advantage of it; contact me today.

Trust is like a safe have you given your combination away?

We got a call last year from a middle-aged man whose parents had died and left him a nice inheritance. His parents had a trust which said, "After both of us have died, give the money in the trust to our son." He was about to receive his money, but he was worried, because he had recently been sued, and had just gotten a court order/judgment against him. He asked us, "Can my creditors get their hands on my inheritance?" Answer: "Yes. Hand it over." His parents had hoped that he could use that money to have a nice retirement, but he never saw a dime of it.

His parents gave the combination to the "safe" to their son's creditors.

Trusts do many things, but one thing they do particularly well is protect inheritances from the creditors of the trust beneficiaries. Suppose the parents' trust had said, "After both of us have died, continue to hold the money in trust for our son, and use it for his benefit for the rest of his life." If they had done that, then their son's creditors would have been out of luck.

bank or trust company), they would have charged their typical fees of around one to two percent of assets, which (1) is probably about what an investment portfolio manager would charge anyway, even without a trust, and (2) seems like a small price to pay to avoid losing the inheritance to creditors. Corporate Trustees are well worth their fees, especially when the beneficiary is a minor, incapacitated, a spendthrift/gambler/shopaholic, naive about investing, in a shaky marriage, or in a high risk occupation.

If using a Corporate Trustee does not appeal to you, you can name the beneficiary as Trustee of his or her own inheritance and still receive the creditor protection. In 2010, the Arizona legislature passed a statute that says, in most cases, a beneficiary's creditors cannot get at an inheritance that is held in trust, even if the beneficiary is also the trustee! That sounds too good to be true, and maybe some day a court will rule that it is too good to be true. But for now, the smart plan is to leave your children their inheritances in trust for their lifetimes, either with a family member, friend or corporation as Trustee, or even with your children as their own Trustees.

Before you ask: no, you can't use your trust to protect against your own creditors, unless you make the trust irrevocable and give up all control and access – which most people aren't willing to do. But to protect your children, review your "safe" to make sure you haven't given the combination to your children's creditors.

But wouldn't that have involved a lot of trustee's fees? Not necessarily. If the parents had named a Corporate Trustee (

Spiritual Message

Perhaps if we can extend this kind of biblical hospitality to the strangers in our midst we too will reap the “righteous man’s reward.” (Matthew 10:41b) This is nothing less than, as in the case of Elisha the prophet, future generations, and progeny. In the case of Jesus, the reward of caring for one of these least ones is the inheritance of his Father’s Kingdom. He specifically references welcoming the stranger. (Matthew 25: 31-46)

Many of us will be traveling out of town to relatives and friends or hosting out of town visitors this summer. Whether we extend a welcome to others or are recipients of hospitality we will do well to remember the traditions of our faith and the history of our nation (we or our forbearers) were all once strangers in a strange land. To this end we should practice the Golden Rule – “Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.”

The people who reach our shores have already borne much adversity, sacrifice, and loss of homeland. We can ease their suffering by standing with them and offering a hand-up, even if it means, “only offering a cup of cold water.” The best symbol of this welcoming spirit is our Statue of Liberty, a gift from the country of France. On its pedestal is this poem by Emma Lazarus entitled The New Colossus.

Not like the brazen giant of Greek fame,
With conquering limbs
astride from land to land;
Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall stand A mighty woman with a torch, whose flame Is the imprisoned lightning, and her name Mother of Exiles. From her beacon-hand Glows world-wide welcome; her mild eyes command
The air-bridged harbor that twin cities frame. “Keep, ancient lands, your storied pomp!” cries she With silent lips. “Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!”
